

For the wild.

For the wild.

For its future

And it's one you may not have contemplated before

One where the world's wild animals don't simply

Slip off the face of the earth, never to be seen again...

They make a comeback.

See, we believe that humans and animals can live together on this planet. That we can share it.

That they can survive, and even thrive in the wild.

But until that day comes we will be right there working towards it.

As a home

A school

A sanctuary

A nursery

A dating service

The first line of defence

And the last resort.

We are defenders, champions and ambassadors of the wild

And we're on a mission that is of such critical importance it can't be allowed to fail.

Put simply: We can't let it.

Taronga. For the wild.
